AT THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE GOVERNORS
OF THE
ROYAL JENNERIAN
AND
LONDON VACCINE INSTITUTION,

Held at the George and Vulture Tavern, George Yard, Lombard Street, on Thursday, January 13th, 1842.

President,

ROBERT ELWIN, Esq.

IN THE CHAIR.

The Minutes of the last General Court were read and approved.

The Minutes of the Board of Managers were read and confirmed.

The Auditors' Report was received and approved.

The Annual Report was read, approved, and ordered to be printed, under the direction of the Managers.

RESOLVED,—That the Managers be authorized to issue, at their discretion, the Annual Report, and give such publicity to the proceedings of the Meeting as they shall think proper.

REPORT.

THE progress of the Institution during the past year has been marked by circumstances of peculiar interest.

The Governors are aware, that during the year 1840, the legislature gave existence to the Vaccination Act, by which, means for the parochial vaccination of the poor were provided. The operation of this act, in reference to the Institution, was looked forward to by the Board of Managers with deep attention.

The experience of the past year has, however, demonstrated, that, so far as the Institution is concerned, little or no effect has been produced; the Institution still conferring the same amount of advantages, both in reference to the numbers vaccinated at the stations of the Institution, and the supplies of matter forwarded therefrom; the number vaccinated being 6890, the supplies of matter being 58,700; facts, demonstrating, that, notwithstanding the aid afforded by the legislative enactment to the diffusion of Vaccination, the same imperative necessity for the existence of the Institution, as a source to preserve and diffuse Vaccination, remains.

The Board of Managers felt it to be their duty, (seeing that the Vaccination Act provided, that the parishes should remunerate those, who Vaccine the poor therein,) to bring under the notice of the several parishes and unions, embracing the districts, in which the benefits of the Institution have been chiefly distributed, the great amount of good bestowed by the Institution. They further pointed out, that the Institution, by vaccinating the thousands yearly at the Institution, must greatly diminish in those parishes the annual expences in future; and, that, on this account, the Board of Managers hoped, that the parishes and the unions would give some aid to the Institution. The parishes and unions declined to give any aid, principally on the ground, that the Act of Parliament does not authorize the remuneration for Vaccination, except under certain circumstances, within the limits of which, the Institution could not be brought.

The Board of Managers not succeeding, for the reason stated, in their application, determined to appeal to the POOR LAW COMMISSIONERS; they forwarded a statement of the benefits conferred by the Institution, copies of the letters, sent to the various parishes and unions, and replies to those letters, and received in answer, the following important document, being a testimony by the Poor Law Commissioners themselves, to the immense value of the Institution:—

*Poor Law Commission Office, Somerset House,
December 9, 1841.*

SIR,—I am directed by the Poor Law Commissioners to acknowledge the receipt of the memorial, signed by you on behalf of the Board of Managers of the Royal Jennerian and London Vaccine Institution, and to state that they have carefully perused the same, and also the several papers which accompanied and are referred to in the memorial.

The Commissioners entertain no doubt of the advantages which have been produced by the Vaccine Institution in question, especially at a time when no public provision had been made for gratuitous vaccination.

The Commissioners regret the embarrassment in which so useful an Institution appears to be placed, but they do not see how, under the provisions of the recent act of 3 and 4 Viet. c. 29. they can call upon the Boards of Guardians to afford support to the Institution out of the parochial funds.

I have the honour to be, SIR,

Your most obedient Servant

GEORGE COODE,
Assistant Secretary.

CHARLES CHANTRY, Esq.

Secretary to the Royal Jennerian and London Vaccine Institution, 18, Providence Row, Finsbury Square.

The Board of Managers feel much pleasure in bringing this recognition before the Governors, and hope, that, as the Act of Parliament does not enable the parishes, or the commissioners, to order any aid to the Institution, and as the Institution has realized and will still realize benefits of so great an extent to the public, the Governors will perceive the necessity, both of the aid, which they hitherto have so kindly afforded, being continued, and, at the same time, of bringing the Institution under the notice of the benevolent and enlightened.

Of the value of the Institution, in keeping up supplies of genuine Vaccine matter, the following letter from Dr. Murray, of Trinidad, affords a striking evidence :—

Trinidad, January 12, 1841.

SIR,—I should ere this have acknowledged, as I now beg to do with many thanks, the regular and punctual receipt of “lymph” from your Institution, by every alternate packet. I can with great truth assure you, that the lymph I thus receive is of excellent quality, affording me the greatest satisfaction. Having charge of an Institution in this island, liberally supported by government, I usually keep up the virus by successive vaccinations on healthy children, and having many calls upon me from country districts, and from the neighbouring continent and islands, I am greatly assisted in my ability to serve them by the liberal supplies I am in the course of receiving from the Royal Jennerian Institution.

I have recently reminded my agent at home to pay up my annual subscription, and tendering once more my thanks for your attention and punctuality in transmitting me supplies of virus, which I trust you will have the kindness to continue,

I remain, SIR, your obliged humble servant,

To C. Chantry, Esq.

THOMAS MURRAY, M. D.

And to the uniform excellent character of the matter sent, the following letter gives indirectly a most pleasing testimony :—

East Dereham, Norfolk, February 25.

MR. WARCUP is sorry to again trouble Dr. EPPS for Vaccine ichor, but he was not successful with the last, a failure which never occurred before during a period of nearly twenty years that Mr. WARCUP has been supplied from the same source.

In connection with the Vaccine matter, and the best means for its transmission to distant parts, the Board have great pleasure in referring to a valuable letter from His Excellency M. M. MOSQUERA, representative of New Grenada, in this country, (see Correspondence,) which shows that Vaccine crusts, being the chests, in which nature deposits the Vaccine matter, are the best vehicles for transmitting the Vaccine to distant countries; a practice first introduced by our late valued Secretary, Mr. ANDREW JOHNSTONE.

The Governors will perceive, from the correspondence, that the various European states, Africa, Asia, and the South American states, continually receive supplies from the Institution.

In regard to the South American provinces, the Board has to record its regret at the death of a valued and zealous fellow labourer, in Rio de Janeiro, Doctor HERCULES OCTAVIANO MUZZI, who has departed from his scene of usefulness since the last Report : he died January 26, 1841.

Another zealous member of your Institution, Dr. NAPOLEON B. DE BONETTI, is actively engaged in diffusing the benefits of Vaccination through South America. Also a valued and faithful supporter of Vaccination, Dr. JUSTO GARCIA VALDEZ, is still actively distributing the benefits of your Institution in Buenos Ayres.—(See Correspondence.)

Our own dependencies, in the East and the West Indies, the Cape of Good Hope, Sydney, Australia, and, to these we may add New Zealand, have received supplies.

It will be seen by the letters, that Mr. MARSHALL, the respected agent for emigration to Sydney and Australia, always supplies the emigrant ships with the protective virus.

In connexion with the blessings realized from the supplies, afforded by the Institution, to the emigrant ships, the following letter will interest the Governors:—

Plymouth Sound, October 8, 1841.

SIR,—About three years ago I was favoured by you with a supply of Vaccine matter for the ship Coromandel, bound with emigrants to New South Wales, and had it not been for that supply I know not what the consequences would have been, as Small Pox appeared on the third day after we put to sea. I am now about to proceed to the same place as surgeon-superintendent of the Himalaya, and will be greatly obliged by having a supply forwarded by post to Plymouth. The number of steerage passengers on board, is two hundred and twenty, inclusive of children.

I have the honor to be, SIR,

Your obliged and obedient servant,

RICHARD DAY, M. D.

Surgeon Superintendent, Himalaya.

To the Secretary of the Royal Jennerian and London Vaccine Institution.

The Board has the pleasure to inform the Governors, that the New Zealand Company have become Annual Governors to the Institution, and give to all their ships a regular supply of Vaccine.

The Board of Managers have further transmitted Vaccine to the other Australian settlements, through the medium of the Western Australian Company, your Institution thus being the first to spread the blessings of Vaccination to every quarter, where British intelligence and energy carry her sons and the productions of her industry.

In regard to DOMESTIC SUPPLIES, the correspondence will show the great extent. This correspondence will further demonstrate the absolute necessity of the existence of your Institution to keep Vaccination in active operation; this correspondence showing it to be impossible that private practitioners can keep up a supply, so as to ensure true Vaccination: and the perusal of the correspondence will, no doubt, cause the Governors to feel pleasure in the support they have already given and to determine them to strengthen still further the hands of the Board.

The Board cannot conclude without noticing to the Governors the fact, that already the Penny Postage Act has enabled the Institution to receive and to transmit an increased number of letters; and they may add that the increase is in a progressive ratio, thus demonstrating the value of the exertions made by the Governors towards the obtainment of that Act: and further demonstrating that increase of facility of communication is one essential to human improvement: Any change in which act, the Board, (in connexion with vaccination,) most earnestly deprecate.

The Board, taking all the various facts brought before them into consideration, consider that a case, justificatory of a further appeal to the benevolence of the Governors and of the public has been made out; an appeal to which the Board is the more impelled, because the income of the Institution has not, during the past year, been equal to the expenditure, small though that expenditure be. They therefore hope that the Governors will present the Institution before the notice of their friends, and thus increase the many obligations, already conferred, by their aid, through the instrumentality of the Royal Jennerian and London Vaccine Institution, on society.

The Board of Managers feel certain that the introduction of the Institution, by the respectable Governors, to the attention of the benevolent, is all that is required, since, in some cases, its value, where it has been known, has been sometimes most unexpectedly appreciated. The following note from a gentleman will testify to the general belief in the value of the Institution:—

Examiners' Office, Rolls, Chancery Lane, May 31.

SIR,—The late Miss TURTON having bequeathed the sum of fifty pounds for charitable purposes, at the discretion of her executors, I beg to inform you that they have selected your Institution as one of the objects of her bounty, and to transmit, on the other side, a draft for ten pounds. I will thank you to sign the accompanying receipt, and to return it to me.

I am, SIR, your obedient servant

T. H. PLUMER.

In concluding this Report, the Board has the painful duty to record the death, during the last year, of one of the earliest supporters of Vaccination; of one, who fought, by the side of JOHN WALKER, the battle of Vaccination, against outward prejudices and inward foes; who adhered to the Institution, in its difficulties and its successes; whose untiring zeal and joyous disposition, communicated a cheerfulness to all, in their various duties, and who now lives in the remembrance of many, as the late WILLIAM CORDELL, Esq. the late medical secretary.

Dr. Receipts and Disbursements of the Royal Jennerian and London Vaccine Institution. Cr.

DOMESTIC CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Secretary of the Royal Jennerian and Loudou Vaccine Institution.

Batley Cottage, near Dewsbury, April 6, 1841.

DEAR DR.—Having been recently appointed vaccinator for this district, I should esteem it a favour if you could accommodate me with some Vaccine virus. We have a large population here, and numbers are unvaccinated, so that I find it very difficult to obtain an adequate supply of Vaccine virus. I remain, dear Doctor, your old pupil,

GEORGE ALBUTT.

Derby Abbey, near Derby, April 5, 1841.

SIR—Having all the children of a large manufacturing village to vaccinate, amounting probably to six or seven hundred individuals, I should feel exceedingly obliged if you would send me a supply of pure Vaccine lymph, per return of post. The Small Pox is making its appearance, and as a preventive, all are going to be vaccinated who have not been done during the last seven years.

I am, SIR, your's truly,

ROBERT BELL, Surgeon.

Wilderness Park, October 2, 1841.

SIR,—I have had the honour of receiving the honorary testimonial of the Royal Jennerian Vaccine Institution, and shall have much pleasure in becoming a member of that society.

I shall be much obliged to you to put my name as a subscriber of one guinea annually.

I have the honour to be, SIR, your most obedient humble servant,

CAMDEN.

Pickering, Yorkshire, January 9, 1841.

SIR,—Being in immediate want of Vaccine lymph, and not being able to procure any in the neighbourhood, I take the liberty of requesting a supply from your Institution.

Your obedient servant,

WILLIAM COLL.

Hertford, January 1, 1841.

Messrs. COLBECK are sorry to trouble Mr. CHANTRY so soon again, but they have just now so many of their patients wishing to be vaccinated immediately, that they cannot keep up a sufficient supply of matter, more particularly as they do not, since the new act, have many poor to Vaccinate. They will therefore thank him to send four charges of virus. They enclose two penny stamps, Isleworth, January 17, 1841.

SIR,—I shall be much obliged if you will have the goodness to send down four pair of glasses of Vaccine lymph. The last supply which you forwarded us, (I believe in August 1840,) has been kept up to the present time, and has failed in only three or four instances out of upwards of a hundred cases. I remain, SIR, your obedient servant,

HORATIO G. DAY.

Sevenoaks, January 7, 1841.

SIR,—According to your request, I here send you per post office order my subscription to the Royal Jennerian Society, you will oblige to inform me when you have received the above.

SIR, your humble servant,

THOMAS HARMAN.

Horndean, July 14, 1841.

SIR,—I should feel much obliged if you will send me a supply of Vaccine lymph; with the last I vaccinated 170 successfully. Your humble servant,

J. T. HICKMAN.

Castle Connel, Ireland.

Dr. GEORGE JULIUS, who is at present in Ireland, would feel obliged by Dr. Epps, forwarding to him a supply of Vaccine virus, for he is in serious want of it, and being in a remote part of the country where none is to be obtained: he requests it may be remitted by an early post.

Leek, Staffordshire, January 22, 1841.

GENTLEMEN,—May I take the liberty of asking you to send me a small portion of Vaccine matter, as I feel great difficulty in procuring it good, and in keeping up the supply.

Your obedient Servant,
GEORGE LEIGH, Surgeon.

Stoke Fruerne, Toweester, January 5, 1841.

SIR,—You will oblige me by stating, whether there be any act of parliament prohibiting unprofessional persons from vaccinating. The act of parliament of last session, I am aware, only forbids any person whatever from inoculating.

I am, SIR, your obedient servant,
PHILLIP HENRY LEE.

The law prevents no one vaccinating.—MEDICAL DIRECTOR.

Ardwick Green, Manchester, July 16, 1841.

SIR,—You would confer an obligation on me by letting me have as many as six charges of Vaccine lymph here is very bad, producing severe inflammation with extensive sloughing. I should feel greatly obliged if you send; let me have it as early as possible, as my youngest child is not yet vaccinated, and, I regret to say, I am attending Small Pox cases.

Your obedient servant,
JOHN JESSE.

Newcastle on Tyne.

SIR,—I shall be much obliged if you will send me some good fresh Vaccine lymph, as the Vaccine lymph here is very bad, producing severe inflammation with extensive sloughing. I should feel greatly obliged if you send; let me have it as early as possible, as my youngest child is not yet vaccinated, and, I regret to say, I am attending Small Pox cases.

I am SIR, your's, &c.
S. C. MASON, M.D.

The Vicarage, Eltham, March 27, 1841.

Rev. W. MYERS will be obliged to the Secretary of the Jennerian Vaccine Establishment, to send him a few glasses of Vaccine lymph, as there is great necessity to vaccinate the children in this parish.

Sunderland Infirmary, January 12, 1841.

SIR,—I will thank you if you will forward me a lot of Vaccine virus, per post, for the Sunderland infirmary.

Your's respectfully,
B. OGAN.

Ardara, County Donegal, January 2, 1841.

SIR,—From your known kindness in sending Cow Pock infection to persons in this neighbourhood before, I am induced to call on you to assist me in putting down that wretched practice of cutting for the Small Pox. There are a great number of families in this remote district, who promise to allow their children to be cut with Cow Pock, if I will procure it for them. For the sake of humanity I promised to do so. If you, Sir, will have the kindness to send me two or three packets, you will assist in doing what, I hope, will turn out to be a blessing, and for which I will feel most grateful.

Sincerely your's, THOMAS H. STACK.

Liverpool, 1841.

SIR,—I will thank you to forward as under for the Liverpool Apothecaries Company, at your earliest convenience, per post, a supply of Vaccine virus.

I am, SIR, your's respectfully,
ROBERT U. VINGALL. Manager.

Woolwich, March 5, 1841.

SIR,—Having received a request from a benevolent gentleman in Argyleshire, to procure him some Vaccine virus for the benefit of a numerous population in his immediate neighbourhood, I beg to make known his wish to you, and to say that I shall be obliged by your having a supply made up for him, and either sending it to me, or to him, at your earliest convenience. His address is Lieutenant Colonel Macdonald, Irut Kenneth, Aross, Argyleshire. Be pleased to favor me with an answer, saying in which way you prefer to forward it, and of course so packed as to preserve its efficacy.

I have the honour to be, SIR, your obedient humble servant,

JOHN WEBB.

Ordance Medical Department, Woolwich, May 28, 1841.

Sir JOHN WEBB presents his compliments to Mr. Chantry, and requests he will have the goodness to favour him with a supply of Vaccine lymph, so put up as to enable him to send it a considerable distance.

WHOLESALE METROPOLITAN CHEMISTS.

The following wholesale chemists and druggists receive constant supplies from the Institution, which they transmit by their parcels to country correspondents; nearly sixty practitioners are supplied weekly in this indirect way, by the Institution. These chemists apply; some, weekly; some, almost every other day.

FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Secretary of the Royal Jennerian and London Vaccine Institution.

Sir,—Every day do I more and more extend my labours by the propagation amongst the inhabitants of this vast hemisphere, of the immense advantages of inoculation; and you will observe by the enclosed newspaper, that the authorities of this territory have accepted the offer I made to them of inoculating (gratis) its inhabitants; and have now the pleasure to acquaint you, that I have extended this benefit to thousands of individuals of all ages and sexes, and with more advantage and success than in the countries, near the Cordilleroy.

As you are so deeply concerned in the improvements, which the age requires, you will have the satisfaction in learning that neither place, country, nor opportunity escape, without my rendering this service to humanity.—I have the honour to subscribe myself,

T. O. S. NAPOLEON B. DE BONETTI,
Propagator of the Cow Pock, in South America.

Sir F. OMMANNY forwards his compliments to the Secretary of the Vaccine Institution, and has to request he will send a supply of Vaccine lymph to Dr. John Loudon, of Pernambuco, South America, as early as convenient, (via Liverpool.)

Croydon, July 20, 1841.

May the Confederacy prosper! Buenos Ayres, 25th March, 1841, 32nd year of Liberty, 26th year of the Independence, and 12th of the Argentine Confederacy.

The undersigned has the honour to address the Secretary of the Royal Jennerian Society of London, joining the general statement of all the vaccinated persons of both sexes in the city and country of this province, from the first of January to the 31st of December, 1840.

The number of vaccinated this year is 1777; much less than last year and the preceding ones. Vaccination began this year, giving hopes of an extensive propagation; but the general war which the Unitarians have carried on with so much obstinacy against us, principally the bands of Juan Savalle and the rebel, obliging all the province to be under arms, has destroyed the tranquillity so necessary for this beneficial operation; nevertheless are consoled by seeing the brilliant and genuine state of the Cow Pock which has taken.

The day is not far distant when, having crushed that nefarious race, the various members of the confederacy will be able to return again to their innocent occupations; and then, under the shelter of the powerful arm of our illustrious restorer of the laws, the hero of the desert, the heroic defender of American liberty, Brigadier General Don Juan Samuel de Rosas, all will be in the province and confederacy, security, power and industry, for the propagation of the Cow Pock, and the other blessings necessary for the peace of the people.

One of the evils which we have experienced in the long blockade we have suffered, is the not having the remittancy of parcels with Vaccine matter in glasses and crusts and the annual pamphlet on vaccination. We hope that peace will remedy this evil.

God keep the Secretary of the Royal Jennerian Society many years.

JUSTO GARCIA VALDEZ.

GARCIA VALDEZ

MONSIEUR,—Sachant que vous ne verrez pas sans intérêt les nouvelles des résultats qu'a eu dans la République de la Nouvelle Grenade, l'application des différentes espèces de pus destiné à la vaccination préservative de la petite verole, que vous eûtes dans le temps la complaisance de me remettre au nom du philanthropique Institut que vous présidez, et que j'envoyai sans retard à mon Gouvernement; il m'est agréable de vous en participer celles que je viens de recevoir.

Il paraît que dans le mois de Mars de l'an passé la petite verole épidémique se développa avec une grande violence dans la ville de Popayan et sa province, et telle a été la propagation de ce fleau, qu'on en parlait encore en août dernier. Et comme presque à la même époque du commencement de la maladie fût sub-ministré à la ville par le Gouvernement le pus que vous lui aviez procuré par mon entremise, l'on a pu faire les observations suivantes.

Les essais faits avec le pus contenu entre les verres, et avec celui attaché aux aiguilles en ivoire n'ont produit le moindre bon effet; mais il n'est pas arrivé autant avec le pus en croutes, puisque mouillées celles-ci pour s'en servir avec de l'eau froide, et inoculé le fluide ainsi formé, ou en tira les plus heureux résultats, ayant obtenu des grains revêtus de tous les caractères de la vraie et légitime vaccine. Grand nombre de personnes furent vaccinées avec elle à Popayan, sans qu'aucune ait souffert inutilement l'opération; et ce bienfaisant remède est à présent adopté très-efficacement par tout le monde. Les victimes de l'épidémie dans la ville citée, qui compte une population de 7 à 8000 âmes, ont passé le nombre de cent, devant être remarqué que toutes étaient des adultes jamais vaccinés ; les enfans qui l'avaient été se souvèrent tous.

Il faut ajouter pour compléter ces détails, qu'il existait déjà à Popayan le pus vaccine, mais les grains resultants de son application n'offraient pas des si bon caractères que ceux formés par les croutes en question ; outre que souvent l'on était obligé de repeter l'operation ayant manqué la premiere, ce que ne s'apperçoit du tout depuis que l'on a generalise le pus nouvellement obtenu.

Vers la fin du mois de Juillet dernier on portait à six cents les individus vaccinés, lesquels en contact toujours avec des malades n'ont pour cela pas attrappée la contagion.

De ces observations nous pouvons deduire la très-satisfaisante consequence, que le pus, repandu dans ce pays-là est excellent et legitime, et comm' il a été aussi porté aux provinces du Canca et de Buenaventura, il y a droit à espérer qu'il sera conservé plus soigneusement qu'on ne l'a pas fait antrefois.

Il ne me reste, Monsieur le President, qu'à vous renouveler les assurances de la très distinguée consideration avec laquelle j'ai l'honneur d'être.—Votre obeissant serviteur,
Legation de la Nouvelle Grenade, pres S. M. B. M. M. MOSQUERA.

Six plates of Vaccination matter for the Belgian minister.

C. DROUET.

SIR,—Mr. Redlich, M.D. of Memel, desired me, some time back, to send him again by first opportunity some Vaccine matter from your Institution : by therefore applying to you, I beg you to excuse my liberty, hoping that the honourable Board of Directors will grant Dr. Redlich's request without charge. Should, however, a charge be made for it, I am ready to pay for it, provided it is good matter, and beg you will have the kindness to send it to me, well packed, so as to stand the voyage, at your earliest convenience.

The last time Dr. Redlich had some matter from the Institution was in February, or March, 1838. I am most respectfully, SIR, your obedient servant,
3, Skinner's Place, Sise Lane, March 8, 1841. A. HARTMANN.

The Consul General of Spain wishes you to let him have two crystals of Vaccination matter to-morrow during the day. The office at No. 37, Old Broad Street, City, is open only until four o'clock. Let the matter be as fresh as possible.

The clerk, M. MORENTIN.

Please to send to Barcelona some of the vaccinating matter ; 12 pair of glasses, 12 points, and 1 packet of crusts.
37, Old Broad Street, City. The Spanish Consul General.

The National Academy feels much obliged to you for the readiness you have shown in furnishing the genuine Vaccination virus, as well as for the kind letter of the 14th December last, in reply to which, I beg to say, that the Academy will take the necessary steps with government in order to have instructions given to the Spanish ambassador to pay an annual subscription ; in the meantime, the Academy has directed the Spanish consul general, in your city, to pay, on its account, a subscription of two guineas for the year 1841.

The Academy would have been glad to contribute more largely, but the funds of the Institution are so limited, as to be compelled to confine itself to the minimum subscription.

The Academy has felt much pleasure in entering into correspondence with your philanthropic Institution, and trust that hereafter many opportunities will offer to continue so desirable an intercourse. This I have been directed by the Academy to say to you.

From the National Medical and Surgical Association of Barcelona.

J. MOLINAI and GOLME, Breslaw, have been frequently supplied with Vaccine during the year.

MR. PRESIDENT,—The Central Neapolitan Vaccine Institution has received the Vaccine virus which the illustrious Jennerian Society had the kindness to forward to it through the medium of His Sicilian Majesty's Minister in London; and I hasten, in the name of the said Institution, of which I have the honour to be perpetual secretary, to be pleased to express to the society its sentiments of satisfaction and gratitude.

It is now two years since we found the Cow Poek in a drove of Cows, which eircumstance led to my being directed to observe the same, and make experiments thereon. I thereupon wrote, by order of my government, a statement of the fact, to which I added some reflexions upon the questions that are now being debated in Europe, with respect to Vaccine virus, availing myself of the facts, constantly collected by the Institution, from the year 1804, the period of its being founded, until the present time. I take the liberty, Mr. President, to forward to you a copy of the said statement, aecompanied by the Vaccine virus proceeding from the discovery made in 1838, in the cows above mentioned, in case the illustrious Jennerian Society should be disposed to make a comparative experiment in London. I shall consider myself happy if the Society accept the offer, and if, at the same time, it should confer on me the honour of being its correspondent, as was the late Antonio Miglietta, first perpetual secretary of the Institution, my predecessor in the post with which, through the kindness of my government, I am at present invested.

Central Neapolitan Vaccine Institution, Naples, July 20, 1840.

(Signed) The CHEVALIER SALVATORE DE RENZI,
The Perpetual Secretary.

BARON DE THOUESUR, Portuguese minister, presents his compliments to the committee of the Royal Jennerian Society, and would be much obliged by their having the goodness of favouring him with a portion of Vaccine pus, so that the Baron may be enabled to forward it to his government, by the vessel that takes the mail on Saturday next to Lisbon.

57, Upper Seymour Street, March 29, 1841.

SIR,—Please to let the bearer have 24 glasses of Vaccine ichor to be sent to Holland, and oblige,
7, Cireus, Minories, April 14, 1841.

SIR, your obedient servant,

JOHN VINK.

SIR,—The Small Pox unfortunately prevailing in this city and environs, to a very great extent, and the medical men not being sufficiently supplied with pure ichor, I take the liberty of applying to you in the cause of humanity, and beg you will have the kindness to forward to my office, 7, Cireus, Minorics, London, a supply in glasses, that they may be enabled to combat against this great enemy of the human race.

I have written to the Cireus, that whatever you may send them, is to be forwarded to me without loss of time; and remain, SIR, your very obedient servant,
Rotterdam, March 2, 1841.

Medical Gentlemen, wishing to be appointed Vaccinators, must apply to the Secretary, who will place their application before the Board of Managers. And it is further earnestly recommended, that an annual return of the numbers vaccinated by each Gentleman be sent to the Secretary, before the 1st of January, in order that they may be printed in the Report.

DESCRIPTION OF THE VACCINE POCK.

In Vaccination, a redness at the place of puncture, or incision, takes place in a day or two ; a little pimple then arises, which may be felt with the finger, or be distinctly seen. This gradually increases till the tenth day, when it appears about the size of a pea, considerably depressed on its summit, elevated at its circumference, with an areola, or circumscribed inflammation, about the size of half-a-crown, surrounding the pock. If, at this time, the circulation be quickened by heat, or exercise, or if by grasping the arm the skin at the inflamed part be put upon the stretch, there is an appearance of throbbing in the areola or inflamed part, arising from the pulsation of the neighbouring arteries. After this, the centre dries and hardens, taking on the appearance of a dark brown crust or scab, which insensibly is extended throughout its substance ; and in about three weeks from the time of the inoculation, the crust or scab falls off, in shape and colour resembling a tamarind-stone, leaving an eschar or cicatrix (cicatrice) often indelible or permanent through future life.

CRITERION OF PROTECTION.

If, from any kind of accident, the pock be broken, or if the matter have been taken from it in such quantity as to destroy its ordinary appearance, the inflammation and induration always accompanying or constituting the areola, yield the certain proof of the subject being perfectly protected. At this period a symptomatic fever, however transient, is always felt by the patient.—J. WALKER, late Director of the London Vaccine Institution.

“ The efflorescence, at the inoculated part, which seldom supervenes before the eighth, or later than the eleventh day, is to be regarded as an indication that the whole system is affected.”—WOODVILLE, London.

“ Le seul symptôme essentiellement nécessaire, est la tumeur, produite par le virus à la place de l'inoculation.”—AUBERT, à Paris.

“ The appearance of the areola is a decided proof that the antivariolous change has been produced in the system ; and independent of this circumstance, I know no means by which the practitioner can be assured that the true disease has taken place.”—DE CARRO, VIENNA.

“ In some of the darker-complexioned Asiatics, the areola is not so obvious to the eye as in European patients, on account of the different opacity of the rete mucosum of the skin ; but the hand, applied to the circumference of the vesicle, readily discovers the firm hardness in them as well as in Europeans.”—ANDERSON, Madras.

EXTRANEEOUS ERUPTIONS NOT PRODUCIBLE.

Can extraneous humours be inoculated together with the cow-pock ? No ; nor yet with the small-pox. By the violence of the latter disease the constitution may be so injured, that latent tendencies, (technically, predisposing causes) may be aggravated, and the patient thus becomes a victim to disease, which without the previous shock of small-pox, he might altogether have escaped. Vaccination and variolation are works so distinct, that, began, carried on, and completed in the constitution, they admit not any other disease to mingle with them. They can also show themselves near relatives to each other ; while they uniformly arrest, during their presence, other diseases, as scarlatina, measles, &c. ; they exist sometimes, and go on together, each diminishing the effect of its sister disease. From such subject the inoculator can take matter by applying his lancet to the one or to the other pock, and this will produce only the one distinct disease which he makes choice of.—J. WALKER.

OBSERVATIONS ON VACCINATION.

From the different modes of applying the lancet in inoculation, some little varieties in the appearance of the pock, and some little difference in the time of the appearances, are produced.

If the inoculation be effected by an extremely slight, superficial puncture, a small red spot is produced, which, for three or four days, will have only the appearance of the bite of some small insect. At the end of a week there will generally be only the appearance of a small vesicle; and the pock will be a day or two later than usual in the exhibition of all its different appearances.

The pock, through all its stages, will preserve a circular form, spherical or orbicular in the beginning, but, as it acquires its full dimensions, becoming flattened, and even hollow or depressed, on its summit. At this period the pock, at its circumference, is generally considerably elevated; sometimes even, in a small degree, overhanging its basis. But it sometimes happens that, under the characteristic inflammation, the tumified, indurated part, surrounding the pock, is almost, or altogether, as much elevated as the margin of the pock, which then resembles a circular plane or depression, on the elevated, inflamed, indurated areola.

If, on the application of the lancet, any considerable incision be made, the pock, in its circumference, puts on a shape corresponding with the form of the surface of the cutis which had been denuded, or had the cuticle separated from it in the inoculation.

In the central part of the pock a slight ulceration and formation of pus takes place; so that the continuity of cells, which constitutes the structure of the pock, instead of forming a spheroidal congeries, takes on an annular form, surrounding the drop, and sometimes more deeply-seated mass of pus in the centre, produced by the wound from the lancet, at the time of the inoculation.

Round the pock there is, from an early period, a slight appearance of inflammation, which, on the circulation being quickened, exhibits the appearance of a throbbing, synchronous with the pulsations of the arteries producing it, but which is unaccompanied with pain; and, when about the tenth day of the inoculation the disease is at its height, this efflorescence, or erythematous inflammation, forms a distinct kind of halo, or areola, which, in Europeans, is of a red or crimson tint, but which, in blacks and people of colour, is simply of a darker hue than their own complexions.

This characteristic induration, which is always accompanied with a degree of symptomatic fever, seems the most infallible criterion of the vaccination being complete, as it takes place whether the pock have been preserved whole, or have been ruptured during its progress; and though, after its passing away, the pock is generally converted into a firm, peculiar kind of crust or scab, of a dark brown colour, the changes of the pock beginning at its centre; yet,

—— it sometimes happens, from the matter of the pock having been freely discharged, that the characteristic crust is of a diminished size, and of a colour less intensely dark;

—— it sometimes happens that, from violence done to the pock, this crust is altogether prevented, and ulceration takes place;

—— it sometimes happens, when the vaccine effect has passed away (the areola disappeared) that the pock, instead of drying and hardening into anything like the peculiar crust or scab, has the character of some previously existing eruption determined to the part, and becomes infirm, or of loose texture, light coloured, and of irregular form, like a portion of concremented pus, whereby the previous eruption is often carried off. By a discharge from the part at such a time other complaints are sometimes removed, as the excessive intolerance of light with which weak-eyed children are tormented, discharges from the ears, &c.

Under all these different appearances, the characteristic inflammation having previously had place, the protection is complete.—J. WALKER.

DIRECTIONS FOR USING THE VACCINE VIRUS.

The Virus on Glasses is always carefully inclosed in several folds of thin sheet lead, to preserve it from the action of the air, and to keep it as cool as possible; yet (when not rendered effete through the length of time it may be upon the voyage, and the intense heat of the climate), the vaccine ichor being hardened between the glasses, it will be necessary to dip the point of the lancet in cold water, to moisten the indurated matter, before it is applied to the arm of the patient.

On Ivory Points.—The ivory points are also enclosed in several folds of thin sheet lead. They are applied to the arms of the patient by perforating the cuticle with a lancet, then applying the ivory points to the perforated places. The moisture, unavoidably exuded, will sufficiently soften the matter applied.

On Threads.—The mode is, to make the slightest incision of the cuticle, to lay a portion of the thread in, or over such superficial incision, then binding it on the arm, or placing a piece of court or black sticking-plaster over the thread, which is to remain on till the virus produces the desired effect.

Crusts.—While in the small-pox vesicle, as in an ordinary blister, a single puncture lets out the contained fluid; the vaccine pock, cellular in its structure, needs many punctures, or rather breaking down by incisions, with the lancet, to obtain the guardian matter in that abundance which the daily calls on the Institution require. The vaccine pock is similar to the vitreous humour occupying the largest portion of the chamber of the eye: it is a compages of vessels with their contained fluid. The aqueous humour of the eye escapes by a single puncture, like the virus of the Vaccine pock. Hence the indurated pock, the scab or crust of the vaccine pock, contains the dried matter in its cells, which, being broken down, and moistened with the wetted point of the lancet, has been found effective in hot climates, when attempts to preserve the vaccine ichor in other forms have failed. The crusts or scabs the Institution has collected in this country, (letters from the East and West Indies state,) have withstood the heat of the vertical sun, and spread protection through the plantations, and the surrounding districts.

N.B. These crusts, levigated and moistened, and worked into a fine pulp, (a plan suggested by the late Secretary, Mr. A. Johnstone,) have been used by many practitioners in tropical climates, with the most signal success.
